Press Release

"Ici, pas ailleurs" pays tribute to the Korean artist Bang Hai Ja, and presents the paintings of two Korean artists who came to find inspiration in France...

After excellent careers in their countries of origin, it is in France that these artists have succeeded in expressing the depth of their singularities through works that are part of the history of art, beyond the technical constraints they impose on themselves.

All of them deploy throughout their life as artists, in an obsessive way, a vocabulary that is their own. Each work is a journey, between their singularity and universality.
